Starting a stretch of three straight days with conference matches with a 6-1 win was a good stepping stone for us. I was very pleased with the focus that our doubles teams showed in finishing off their matches. At singles the scores don't reflect the length of the battle that both Kevin and Michael had with their opponents. We've been working on consistency and showed a better level of that tonight in singles. I was impressed with James Ceman tonight as he stepped into the #2 singles role after playing mostly doubles for us. He looked good and shows good promise there. We head to Oconomowoc tomorrow for a makeup match, then to Slinger on Thursday. Saturday we cohost an invite with Slinger before closing out the season with matches next Tuesday and Wednesday. Playing six out of nine days to end the regular season will be good preparation for the subsectionals. There is a lot to be worked on yet, but tonight was a good start.
