Starting at 8:30 a.m. with a feels like temperature of 7 degrees had the potential to go poorly. Due to the efforts and toughness of our players we were able to perform very well and earn a body-warming 6-1 win to start the season. Like most teams, we have some state of unknown and doubles combinations to work out so this was important for us to get some live competition. It was positive to see Josh and Spencer step up and compete favorably in their first ever competition after only 6 days outside on the courts. While we shouldn't have had to work as hard to earn the wins in the middle doubles, I was pleased with the tie break wins at 2 and 3 doubles. I thought that all of our singles players played smart and moved well in the frigid conditions giving our team cause for excitement in what we might be able to do this season.
